Wait, your tired arms must rest
Let this moment pass
Wait until the morning

Close your eyes and let me see
Who you used to be
Left without a warning
Who knew one so big could grow so small?
Lighter than the writing on the wall

When angels cry can I stand by?
When storms weep can my heart sleep?
I wish I'd never heard
Wish I'd never heard
Wish I'd never heard
The power of a four letter word

'Cause only love will matter in the end
For woman or for man
What's the difference now?
Here we live with bottles and needles and truth
Here is your living proof
That death cannot be proud
Some say it's a judgement on us all
I can't believe that God would be that small

When angels cry can I stand by?
When storms weep can my heart sleep?
Wish I'd never heard
Wish I'd never heard
I wish I'd never heard
The power of a four letter word

If ever was a soul that longed to fly
If ever was a heart that longed to bloom
If ever was an angel it was you
So close your eyes and say goodbye
Goodbye

When angels cry I can't stand by
When storms weep my heart can't sleep

I guess I've finally learned
I guess I've finally learned
Yes, I finally learned
Love is just a four letter word
Hope is just a four letter word
