this world is a lonely place it's hard when it hits you right in the face just wait for the perfect one there's someone yeah someone for everyone you won't see it coming but when you look inside you'll realize you can't see it coming but when you look inside you'll feel all right sometimes fate don't take that long sometimes you think you're right but end up wrong yeah there's someone right for you when you meet them you'll know just what to do

now look at you what can you do you don't have the answers for everything

now look and now you're making it harder to find you're giving up cause it's wasting your time there's someone perfect for you so just wait and in a simple but strange twist of fate and they look over at you and you smile have they been starring at you for awhile you say you never have felt this before so what are you waiting for?
