

Jann Arden "Willing To Fall Down"

Visit "Willing To Fall Down" on MotoLyrics.com

Willing To Fall Down

{ Written by Jann Arden Richards/Russell Broom }

Holding you is like holding fire
And it burns my hands, and it leaves me tired
And it makes me run, trying to find some cover
This pain that comes with being your lover
You push me back, and you lead me on
And you make me feel, like this is all wrong

You've gotta learn how to let things go
Start living without fear
Be willing to fall down, there's so much love here
You've gotta learn how to let things be
Believe in what you feel
Relax and know that love, will set you free my dear

Holding you is like cupping water
Inside my hands and it's getting harder
To show you all of the love inside me
Wherever I am you're not with me
You push me back, and you pull me down
And you choke the words, inside my heart

You've gotta learn how to let things go
Start living without fear
Be willing to fall down, there's so much love here
You've gotta learn how to let things be
Believe in what you feel
Relax and know that love, will set you free my dear

You've gotta learn how to let things go
Start living without fear
Be willing to fall down, there's so much love here
You've gotta learn how to let things be
Believe in what you feel
Relax and know that love, will set you free my dear

Visit Jann Arden page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

