This back and fourth has got to stop
My heart can't take it anymore
Decisions have to be made
Make up your mind
Whether it's worth it
To stay or run away

Contort the reasons
Taken blame for nothing
Repent one more time
For all the lies repent

So what have we learned
From the senseless words
We've said
It's the same old story
Falling farther from the truth

I've never built a foundation
On which to thrive
I died for love is blind
Take it slowly save the heart
Protect from
The false reflect

I've found that even though
We have suffered
We all rise to the occasion
We've made our graves
I don't believe that
We can't learn from Letting go too soon

[Chorus]

And what will we know
After all is said and done
Will we burn our bridges
And swiftly fall apart

I've realized
We're not all mortal

Like broken glass we'll shatter
Still puncturing the surface
