Verse 1:

You aim all your arms.
You take aim and send out a sign
To the army around you.
They all stand away.

Bridge:

You realize the faster that they run,
The more space they run out of...

Chorus:

You're killing off the shadows,
You bury them all the same side down.
They keep calling out your name.

You're killing off the shadows,
You're killing 'em all the same way now.
They keep calling out your name.

Verse 2:

It seems all these signs...
It seems like they steer you the wrong way,
Fearing your own face.
They learn all your moves.

Bridge:

You realize the faster that you run,
The more space you run out of...

Chorus:

You're killing off the shadows,
You bury them all the same side down.
They keep calling out your name.

You're killing off the shadows,
You're killing 'em all the same way now.
They keep calling out your name.

Verse 3:

(Before you're gone...)
Pay your dues and then you're done.

(A Pound of Flesh before you're gone...)
Pay your dues and then you're done.

Ohhhhh...

Chorus:

You're killing off the shadows,
You bury them all the same side down.
They keep calling out your name.

You're killing off the shadows,
You're killing 'em all the same way now.
They keep calling out your name.

Outroduction:

They all know your face...
They all keep calling you,
They keep calling out your name.
