Lesson one, do not hide
Lesson two, there are right ways to fight
And if you have questions
We can talk through the night

So you know who you are and you know what you want
I've been where you're going and it's not that far
It's too far to walk but you don't have to run
You'll get there in time

Lesson three, you're not alone
Not since I saw you start breathing on your own
You can leave, you can run
This will still be your home

So you know who you are and you know what you want
I've been where you're going and it's not that far
It's too far to walk but you don't have to run
You'll get there in time, get there in time

In time to wonder where the days have gone
In time to be old enough to wish that you were young
When good things are unraveling bad things come undone
You weather love and lose your innocence

And there will be liars
And thieves who take from you
Not to undermine the consequence
But you are not what you do
And when you need it most
I have a hundred reasons why I love you

So you know who you are and you know what you want
I've been where you're going and it's not that far
It's too far to walk but you don't have to run
You'll get there in time

So you know who you are and you know what you want
I've been where you're going and it's not that far
It's too far to walk but you don't have to run
You'll get there in time, get there in time

If you weather love and lose your innocence
Just remember lesson one
