Sending out roses to people I don't know
Praying that there sickness will fade
And they get strength it works every time

Chorus

I woke up this morning and felt inside had healed
And I got stronger I discovered
That if I took time and I was more of a patience person
Everything would turn okay

I do sometimes slip of a rock
And turn to another world
Well everyone is reliving there life
Once again I've changed I've grown
And I feel you're not excepting that That's making me hurt inside

Instead I've been called a person who doesn't understand anything can't let that be Used in this lovely world
You given me evil looks
I know I've done wrong with you
But I think I can make it all up to you

Please don't ignore me I'm trying here
Why don't you as well without any Big fight on its long way

Not a moment I've been happy to see you
Not a time where I've seen you actually listen

Chorus

I woke up this morning and felt inside had healed
And I got stronger I discovered
That if I took time and I was more of a patience person
Everything would turn okay
