erase out the mistake drew long before i met you hope that this will be forever let the flowers shine in our lives let the world be free let the world be open shut down the pain

feel the energy run through you don't let the mistakes take over you fult is nothing to me

hope that this story will be forever let the flowers shine in our lives let the world be free

don't be angry all your life cause one mistake that got to you feel the sun rise high feel the moon fall low let the flowers shine in our lives let the mistake go let the day prepear it's self

erase out the mistaken drew long before i met you before i met you i made so many secrets no one could tell that i was angry mad upset let the flowers shine in our lives let the world be open feel the sun rise high feel the moon fall low

don't keep hold in life always take each day as it comes erase the mistake out drew long before i met you (whispers)

The End
