Ain't a whole lot going on Small town Friday night Revvng up at a red light
On your mark get set go Pass a mom and pop restaurant Same four trucks parked out front I guess ya gotta make your own fun
When you're stuck in a place this slow There's only two means of salvation around here that seem to work
Whiskey or the bible, shot glass or revival
When you don't seem to run on either side of the fence
People act like you don't make sense
These big town dreams that I've been chasing
Will never come true if I wind up staying
And I don't want, to fall in, the same rut, that everybody who seems to be stuck in now Why do I hang around

Yeah, yeah

In this church pew or bar stool kinda town

I'am like that am station that never comes in right till u pass that city limit sign its the only time it gets clear its crystal clear that I just need to find a place that where there's no lines nothing like it is around here someplace where it don't feel like this world revolves around

Whiskey or the bible, shot glass or revival
When you don't seem to run on either side of the fence
People act like you don't make sense
These big town dreams that I've been chasing
Will never come true if I wind up staying
And I don't want, to fall in, the same rut, that everybody
who seems to be stuck in now
Why do I hang around
In this church pew or bar stool kinda town

Here it sometimes feels just like this world revolves
whiskey or the bible, shot glass or revival
When you don't seem to run on either side of the fence
People act like you don't make sense
These big town dreams that I've been chasing
Will never come true if I wind up staying
And I don't want, to fall in, the same rut, that everybody
who seems to be stuck in now
Why do I hang around
In this church pew or bar stool kinda town yeah i need to get out of this church pew or bar stool kind of town
