Ain't a whole lot going on Small town Friday night
Revvng up at a red light
On your mark, get set, go Pass a mom and pop restaurant Same four trucks parked out front
I guess ya gotta make your own fun
When you're stuck in a place this slow There's only two means of salvation around here that seem to work
Whiskey or the bible, a shot glass or revival
When you don't seem to run on either side of the fence
People act like you don't make sense
These big town dreams that I've been chasing
Will never come true if I wind up staying
And I don't want to fall in the same rut that everybody who seems to be stuck in now
Why do I hang around?

Yeah, yeah
In this church pew or bar stool kinda town

I'm like that AM station that never comes in right
'til u pass that city limit sign it's the only time it gets clear it's crystal clear that I just need to find a place where there's no lines nothing like it is around here someplace where it don't feel like this world revolves

Whiskey or the bible, a shot glass or revival
When you don't seem to run on either side of the fence
People act like you don't make sense

These big town dreams that I've been chasing
Will never come true if I wind up staying
And I don't want to fall in the same rut that everybody
who seems to be stuck in now
Why do I hang around?

In this church pew or bar stool kinda town

Here it sometimes feels just like this world revolves
whiskey or the bible, shot glass or revival
When you don't seem to run on either side of the fence
People act like you don't make sense
These big town dreams that I've been chasing
Will never come true if I wind up staying
And I don't want to fall in the same rut that everybody
who seems to be stuck in now
Why do I hang around?
In this church pew or bar stool kinda town
yeah i need to get out of this church pew or bar stool kind of town I want to feel my skin in the snow (and I am a ghost from a million years ago)
She's a wolf looking through my window

And though I'm safe, my wolf, I want to roam (She is a wolf looking in my window)
She's a wolf looking through my window

Behind this pane behind this wall of stone
(and I am a ghost from a million years ago)
She's a wolf looking through my window
