I woke up today
With a dream on my mind
Thinking about a better day
And better place in time
Thoughts about you
And the way it used to be
Thoughts about love
And what it's done to me
Thinking bout yesterday
And all the things I've done
Fighting for a better life
I had to be number one
Never thinking about tomorrow
No always living for today
Never thinking about the ones I loved
I just threw my life away

Yesterday
I sat upon a throne
I woke up today
And all those dreams are gone
Well they keep telling me that it's all good
But I'm doing it all alone
I woke up this morning
Wishing I could go back home

I know I said I loved you
That I really cared

I never meant to hurt you
But the truth is I was scared
I never meant to lie girl
Every word I said was true
So afraid of hanging on
So afraid of losing you
So many nights I lie awake
Till I cry my self to sleep
I miss you so
Since I let you go
And now this misery is mine to keep

I woke up today

With a dream on my mind
Thinking about you
And the life I left behind
Wishing I could turn back time
But some things just can't be changed
Wishing I could run and hide
But we both know I'm to blame
Never thinking about tomorrow
No I'm still living for today
Is it any wonder all my dreams are gone
When I chase them all away
