"Hosanna"

There was a man who smiled like the sunrise
His face I can't forget
His love displayed was unlike any other
He humbly dressed just like a vagabond with Discourse like a King
And when he talked the angels stopped to listen

Hosanna
Filio David
Hosanna
In Altisimis

(Hosanna, Son of David, Hosanna in the Highest)

He often spoke about a Kingdom coming
His words I can't forget
Where all who come may rest beneath His mercy
Where royalty is flowing through the veins of Every citizen
And every soul is treasured like a promise
