

Jason Mraz

"Song For A Dancer"

Visit "Song For A Dancer" on MotoLyrics.com

You must be some kind of actress
I can tell by your sideways style
That you were a problem child
The kind I'm taken by
You're a stranger
And I know that's dangerous
But I'm amused by you

Like every song finds a dancer
For every woman a man
For every question there's an answer
The way the ocean finds the sand
And it would dangerous
To keep being a stranger to you

Chance you can leave the light on
Before you forget to remember me
Chance you'll leave the light on
As a way to remember me

Keep calm and carry on
I know you can't stay very long
Tilt your head and prepare for a spin through the bed
You'll be led by this man
With his outstretched arm
And do him a favor
Don't let him go unnamed here
Don't wanna lose you

Chance you can leave the light on
Before you forget to remember me
Chance you'll leave the light on
As a way to remember me

One kiss with the light on
Is a compliment and it's right on target
I will remember this
It's never too late to learn
To appreciate someone
For the way they behave about you

I'm hoping you will fall for me
I love how your body lay
Do you cross your legs because you're interested?
There's a law that states when they're pointing my way
If not it's a failure
Same as if I couldn't tell you
That you are a muse

Chance you will leave the light on
Before you forget to remember me
Take, take, take, take a chance
And get to know a new partner
Dance with me
Dance with me
Dance with me
Dance

Take a chance and leave the light on
As a way to remember me
Chance and leave the light on
As a way to remember me

Visit Jason Mraz page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.