

Jason Mraz

"Stranger In The Sky"

Visit "Stranger In The Sky" on MotoLyrics.com

Who I am, we're told to toil at mouth
Now louder answer the firmest fist and kisses
Ask me again
How gameshow season never ends
The same old reason I won't win Suspended in this animation
I could use a new vacation Aimlessly the nameless and the faceless go to make up
Tell me I'm not spending too much time on happy endings
And my life does not rely on how much love you might be lending me
Above there's so much I'm depending on, remembering more instead You send me door to door to have the family cat attack the strangers back by popular demand, stand as you were Before you saw your parting gift in stores You poured your empty heart in it but finished what you started
When you practiced and rehearsed
To find that God before He finds first In dirty words and poison dreams like girls who flirt while boys are teens You're only asking for one thing
It's never only make believe to me

Tell me I'm not spending too much time on happy
endings
And my life does not rely on how much love you might
be lending me
Above there's so much I'm depending on, remembering more instead of war with me, myself and I;
I'm headed for the stranger in the sky
Resort in Paradise
Now louder answer the wish and kiss bids goodbye

Visit Jason Mraz page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

