Today is just too great to be locked up inside
I swear the sun could burn directly through my eyes and
I gotta couple of round trick tickets up into the sky
We can have a little fun, my dear, before we die

Treefallin' my darlin' it's so fine
Don't worry about nothin' you'll be alright, yeah

Today is just too great to worry about shit
I'll roll this up right here and you can take a hit Your head might spin and you might maybe lose your mind but Everybody's gotta feel a bit strange sometimes to be alive

Treefallin' my darlin' it's so fine
Don't worry about nothin' you'll be alright, yeah
Just close your eyes real tight and burst into a smile,
yeah
I promise everything outside is worth your while
Yeah

So you see the changing leaves are callin out my name
And I'm sorry work don't stimulate my crazy brain
And when the branch is bendin life don't feel the same I'd rather teach myself to live but get the axe then play your game
You know

Treefallin' my darlin' it's so fine, yeah
Don't worry about nothin' you'll be alright, yeah
Just close your eyes real tight and burst into a smile,
yeah
I promise everything outside is worth your while
Yeah

The sky and the trees
The birds the bees and you and I
The sky's got the trees
The bird's got the bees and you have eyes, for me

(Today is just too great to be locked up inside
I swear the sun could burn directly through my eyes
and
I gotta couple of round trick tickets up into the sky
We can have a little fun, my dear, before we die)
