As far as I know let it go, 'cause it's never quite what it seems you should know, but you don't
as you dropped yourself to your knees

It dawned on me

See what I mean to say please there was no one else there but me
as it slaps you upside the face Now I see, I believe, by the bruise that adorns your cheek

It dawned on me

See, if it were me I'd agree that it pays to be more like you Wouldn't know, and it showed
as you dropped yourself to your knees

It dawned on me

Aaaah
