

Calla "Rise"

Visit "Rise" on MotoLyrics.com

Surely it's a waste of time
You hold me highly, I suppose it's fine
I feel worthy 'cause I've gained your trust
I've done it for myself

I have eaten on a cold dead horse
I have wandered down a blind man's course
I have promised everything would be fine
I don't say this to no one else

If I fail, if I rise, will you trail behind?
If I fail, if I rise, will you trail behind?

Got home pretty late last night
Where's that scratch from, did you get in a fight?
I have told you over, over again
You should stand up for yourself

Scared it was about your size
Look, don't worry, I can see it in your eyes
Strength In numbers is the chef fireman
Don't say this to no one else
Anyway you look at this
There's nothing you could do
Calm yourself and evade yourself
Remember I'm with you

That would really .. last night
Where's that scratch from, did you get it in a fight?
I have told you over over again
You should stand up for yourself

If I fail, if I rise, will you trail behind?
If I fail, if I rise, will you trail behind?

If you want to follow
Don't leave the light on
Don't leave the light on with her
Don't leave the light on

Visit Calla page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.
