I gamble knowing the high stakes
Rolling the dice with you might end up being a mistake
Deciding if it's worth it though
Isn't a hard thing to do, you know
Everything may end up in a mess
And I was scared at first, I must confess
But just a moment with you will satisfy my needs
(They may not grow) but I planted the seeds.
So in years to come, we can't say we didn't try
We just can't believe that stupid lie
Because I've given everything to this
It could be torture or plain bliss
I don't know what it'll be

But you can believe
We're gonna find out
If you thought I wouldn't care this much...you have no clue what I'm about.
Because I don't give up on anything
Especially if it's my everything.
And you are everything to me, honestly you are.
I'll be your sky and you'll be my shooting star.
A gamble?
Maybe.
But it's one I'm making.
