Thought I heard the telephone ring
Thought of all the places you've been
Another day goes by me
You're away and I'm alone

Counting every day that you're there
With a ring that I'll always wear
For the rest of my life
You'll never be so far away

If you could even know
How much I feel you love me
And after all this time
You know I will be
I'll be right here, where you left me

Through the motions of every day
Remember every promise we've made
No distractions in my mind
Our day is not so far away

Imagine all of the times we'll share
With a ring that I'll always wear
For the rest of our lives
We'll never be so far away

If you could even know
How much I feel you love me
And after all this time
You know I will be
I'll be right here
