

Jaydee Bixby

"One Man's Problem"

Visit "One Man's Problem" on MotoLyrics.com

Just another Saturday
Time, she keeps slipping away
Just leaving me behind

Sun is peeking through my windowpane
These eyes, they only see rain
I can't believe that she's gone

I don't expect you to see
But she's important to me, babe
I guess it's just one man's problem

I heard that she went out to celebrate
Three cheers for her brilliant escape
From the prison we were in

Cars buzzing, people rushing everywhere
I've got my world, I guess they've got theirs
Guess it's time for moving on

I don't expect you to see
But she's important to me, babe
I guess it's just one man's problem

There's a sliver of a moon above our heads
Laughing at the little cares that follow us to bed

Meanwhile her bullets keep flying
I heard every word that she said
And they echo 'round my brain

I don't expect you to see
But she's important to me, babe
I guess it's just one man's problem

Visit Jaydee Bixby page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.