don't surrender to the superficial that's not the world for you i know that's the easy thing to do but if your faith is as strong as mine you'll find a way to hold on to hold on to my heart even though we've been apart for so long, baby

...and still, our love is so strong baby, that's why she is our guide it seems like we both cheated cheated at the river of oblivion spilled a drop or two and became destined to live in each others minds as crazy as it may sound... the memory of your face follows me in my journey still it seems so unreal to believe in something so impossible but life itself is impossible life ended is short so i'm asking you to open up the door too much time has already been lost let's finally meet there, down in nowhere

...we've got nothing to lose we already lost to much of everything
