Oh walk into my room, it's in the way, it was two minutes ago
Dirty and unclean, not the way my mother would want it to be Sometimes I wish I was responsible
But then I can't admit I'm not responsible

What if I were perfect?
What if people, schoolmates would appreciate my
presence?
What if I wouldn't scream in public?

I don't give a damn about the price or brand names
I always write all over my shoes, I never tie my shoelace
Always feeling high, I'm losing sense of time
Drunk off my imperfections I'll never be alright

What if I were perfect?
What if people, schoolmates would appreciated my
presence?
What if I wouldn't scream in public?

What if I were perfect?
What if people, schoolmates would appreciated my
presence?
What if I wouldn't scream in public?
