Baby, every minute that we spend has shined a light on me
And I can't imagine anything could ever be more than we Maybe if I gave myself the chance to open up the doors
Though I can't imagine there's another heart like yours Right to the core

When I close my eyes then all I get is more surprised
Of what I feel for you, what can I do?
So much more than yesterday and I know come tomorrow
Even more, even more

Baby, we spend all our lives awaiting ever patiently To be taken from the dark the cold to be set free and now I see You saved me from a long forgotten dream I gave up long ago
And I thank you for each moment that I've come to know Never go

When I close my eyes then all I get is more surprised
Of what I feel for you, what can I do?
So much more than yesterday and I know come
tomorrow
Even more, even more

When I close my eyes then all I get is more surprised
Of what I feel for you, what can I do?
So much more than yesterday and I know come
tomorrow
Even more, even more
