How can I begin to say that I love you
How can I begin to say that I am missing you

Innocent little angel that you are
You still own a special part of my heart

How can I begin to say that I care for you
How can I begin to say I never stopped loving you

Beautiful little angel that you are
You still own a special part of my heart

You will always be my little angel
Heaven only knows
How much I love you so.

You will always be my little angel

No matter how far away you are
You're still my shining star

So angel don't cry dry your eyes
One day we'll be walking side by side

So angel don't cry you don't have to cry any more
One day God will bless what you're praying for

My little Angel my little angel
You will always be my little angel.
