Let's be different let's not let our love end
Let's not call and have to climb back up again Let's not take the chance as all the others do let's be different let's be true
So many so completely ruin their whole lives but it seems
For us to hope for happiness is just a foolish dream Let's foresee their sorrow they'll have to go through let's be different let's be true [steel]
Let's be different let's not make their mistakes
Let's not bring each other tears or cause heartaches Let's not try to slip around with someone new let's be different let's be true
And if we really thought about the sadness and the shame

Or anguish minds and broken hearts that will never be the same
We would never even make each other blue let's be different let's be true
Let's be different let's be true
