

Jeannie C. Riley

"You Write the Music, I'll Write the Words"

Visit "You Write the Music, I'll Write the Words" on MotoLyrics.com

(Ray Buzzeo)

Let's write a song about the love that grew and then just died
We'll tell about the times we laughed and the times we cried
And it will be the saddest song that's ever heard
You write the music, I'll write the words.

you can tell of the love we knew with some pretty
melody
I'll tell how it all ended in that awful tragedy
And it will be the saddest song that's ever heard
You write the music, I'll write the words.

--- Instrumental ---

We'll tell about the way we used to live in harmony Until that stranger came along and knocked you out of key
Then all at once a trio had occurred
You write the music, I'll write the words.

You can tell of the love we knew with some pretty
melody
I'll tell how it all ended in that awful tragedy
And it will be the saddest song that's ever heard
You write the music, I'll write the words.

You write the music, I'll write the words...

Visit Jeannie C. Riley page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.