You are everything, everything you are
You bleed like a saint to shine like a star

I am everywhere you are, when I can
Front row, every show, I'm your biggest fan

When everything gets blown away
Bouncing off the walls, my heart ricochets

While soundwaves speed right through my veins
My face hits the floor, its happening again

Pass this message on it's for you from me
For nobody else, just for you to see

My life's soundtrack is in your hands
Don't go anywhere, don't make any plans
