They say that the truths the pathless land
And all we are is a grain of sand
In a sea of infamy
Forever more for all to see
And in a moment all that comes
Is limitless and it forms as one
We believe, we crystallize
Through our eyes

Where do we go from here
How do we trace the tears through the years
Something inside of us sees
All we need

I'm climbing up towards the truth
I see myself, I am renewed
I believe, I crystallize
Through my eyes

Where do we go from here
How do we trace the tears through the years
Something inside of us sees
All we need

Are you safe in a place that you don't know
Are you still holding on
Can't you just let go now

Where do we go from here
How do we trace the tears through the years
Something inside of us sees
All we need

Can you feel the love that places all of us
In a time where changes get the best of us
Don't you see how fate, it faces all of us

Where do we go from here
How do we trace the tears through the years
Something inside of us sees
All we need
