[Allison:]

Please Mr. Jailer, won't you let my man go free?
Please Mr. Jailer, won't you let my man go free?
He don't belong in prison, though he's guilty as can be,
But the only crime he's guilty of is simply loving me.
Please Mr. Jailer, won't you let my man go free?

(Please Mr. Jailer) won't you let my man go free?
Yeah yeah yeah

[Inmates:]

Please Mr. Jailer, won't you let this jailbird free?
Whoa ho ho

[Allison:]

Just look into his eyes, open up that door.
Just listen to his guitar, you'll know the score.

[Cry Baby:]

Please Mr. Jailer, let an honest man go free.

[Allison:]

Yeah yeah yeah

[Cry Baby and inmates:]

Please Mr. Jailer, don't you make no lifer outta me.
I'm innocent, I swear it. Let my woman testify,
She'll tell you where I was that night,

[Allison:]

Yeah I'm his alibi.

[Allison:]

Please Mr. Jailer, won't you let my man go free?

[Cry Baby and inmates:]

Well I'm tired of pressing liscense plates down in this rotten hole,
I gotta reach the outside before I lose control.
Please Mr. Jailer, don't you make no lifer outta me.

[Alison:]
Yeah Yeah Yeah

[Cry Baby and inmates:]
Please Mr. Jailer, let me out of this penitentiary
(Whoa, let me out)
Please Mr. Jailer, don't you make no lifer out of me.

[Allison:]
(Please Mr. Jailer) won't you let my baby go free?
Whoa ho ho oh, whoa ho, let my man go free.

[Cry Baby:]
Whoa oh oh, don't make no lifer out of me.
Please Mr. Jailer, can't you see how much love she's got for me

[Allison:]
Well, let him go! let him go! let him go! let my man go free. Yeah Whoa

[Cry baby and inmates:]
Please mr Jailer. Let me out!
Please mr. Jailer, don't make me shout.
Please mr. Jailer, Well let me out!
