Run

this was supposed to be so easy but the blood seemed to be cursed we were always just a stones throw away from everything we ever wanted daddy's mantra just got caught in my head children one of these days

child run
to the sea
head first as though your head's on fire jump in and redefine your time and hold on hold on crushing every fear
let your love lead you on let your love lead you on and run run child run

well I put on my heavy coat and I walked out to the road and I waited such long long time with no malice in my heart I wish you well and now I call upon my beloved in the dark so devine

jump in and redefine the line

you're going to find out just how heavy happiness can be less you try now to tote it around in a box made out of lead like me if you never ever hear a single word I say hear me now
