You and i.
Ah, the calm below that poisoned river wild, you and i.
Tears that dry on a rude awakened child.
Where you look down. i've walked before,
Burning holes with eyes of liquid brown.

If we had only known, in a way we wouldn't reach this ground.
You were my only home, silver eyes. i want to see you shine.
And we will feel the weight. fall away from us in time.
searching our past for the true.

You and i,
You and i,
You and i.
All for you.

Where you think you'll fall, i adore you.
Where you shut your soul, i will open for you.
If we had only known in a way we'd never reach this
ground.
I know, silver eyes, I can see us shine.
I said, we will feel the weight fall away from us in time.
Searching our past for a true you and i,
You and i,
You and i.
All for you.
