

Jeff Hanson

"This Time It Will"

Visit "This Time It Will" on MotoLyrics.com

Night comes and I need someone to take me home
I'm a year's supply of words for no one else
But I'm tired now of offering Words that you would never understand
Like a dark day, and a cold hand

How it's turned on me again somehow
And my friends that really were aren't really now
And I'm hearing things so quietly
You hold just what you have right over me
Like your whole life, and how it comes right back to mine, oh

Haven't I done this all before?
Maybe I have, I'm not sure
But never again will I be left under the open air
I waited around for you to be there

I won't believe that it's so far away
And I don't sleep now at night but through the day
And you'll ask me why so honestly
But I don't think it's something that I can see
Like an old friend, turning now then once again, oh

Haven't I done this all before?
Maybe I have I'm not sure
But only today will you still keep inside what I have said
It's something new for you to forget

So I'm not making any plans
And where would I begin?
But I'm doing so much better than
So I think you should know

There's not a window that I can't see out
And your stories left too soon to read about
But it was all done so easily
I'm still not sure where I'm supposed to be Like your whole life, and how it comes right back to mine

Haven't I done this all before?
I know I have I'm quite sure
But never again will I be left under the open air
I waited around for you to be there

Someone that you should have known
Everything was there to be your own

Visit Jeff Hanson page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.

MotoLyrics.com | Lyrics, music videos, artist biographies, releases and more.