You say you want to run and you stay where you are
You say you want to drive but you sit inside the car
I can feel the moment that I waste
There's something left to chew
But there's nothing to taste
When all I did was for for you I always heard you say

I don't want to wait
I can't take it
I don't want to waste my whole life thinking
I don't want to turn around and feel it out for you
That's all I do
I don't want to say that I'm leaving
But I can't find the feeling I believe in
Why do you want to keep me moving
Why do we do this
I'm not the one to run
It's not my call

Save me
I can't believe all my love has gone away
I don't want to lie for you, I swear it
I don't want to act like I don't care
When all you do is hurt the ones that bleed for you
Now tell me is that fair?
