This time last winter I was looking in your eyes
I told you never then I choked you with your lies
I told you never but I cannot let you die
You're only sleeping

We made a lot of plans all beautiful and green
We made a lot of plans that fell down just like rain
All our discussions, I still don't know what they mean
You're only sleeping

Dream, dream, dream, close your eyes
One perfect touch will take you there
Dream, dream, dream, you will find
That when you wake up there'll be endless sky

Outside the window the horizon's very small
One shaky promise keeps my faith so bold and blind
Sometimes it's easy to forget that all the time
You're only sleeping
