

Jenifer Jackson "Look Down"

Visit "Look Down" on MotoLyrics.com

Silver skies are turning black again
TV's light the windows across the way
And your voice is ringing in my ears
Why'd you go so far away this time my dear

Remember look down

I'd like to follow to the place you've gone off to
'Cause I know your eyes can see from where you are
And your mind is bright again and free
You can see all of these candles burning

Remember look down

You're a photograph, a memory
A dream, a dream, a dream, don't wake me
I know you said one day you'd fly
With no regrets and no goodbye

Red, red blood is the color that I hold on to Keeping what we feel is real alive
Later on when the precious moments fly
I'll remember the light once shining in your eyes

Visit Jenifer Jackson page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.