

Jennifer Chung

"Mystery"

Visit "Mystery" on MotoLyrics.com

It really hasn't been a long time.
Feels like we met just yesterday.
I'm guilty of no obvious crime.
But I'd surrender to your name.

The facts they seem so microscopic,
Beside the heart beneath your skin.
I'm counting down the days that pass us slowly,
'Till you decide to let me in.

No, you don't have to say it all yet.
What it is exactly on your mind.
We will dance around the silly topic,
'Till we both decide to cross that line.

We're being true, we don't play no games,
Aware of the price that it may cost.
And practice patience, so there's no blame,
'Cause there was wisdom that we sought.

We'll take our time,
'Cause that's what we have for the rest of our lives.
The mystery, we will decipher,
How we ended up together,
That fateful night (x2)

Here I am in front of you.
There you are in front of me.
How on earth did this all happen?
Ooh, what a mystery.

Please tell me how you feel eventually.
Ooh, don't stay a mystery.

Visit Jennifer Chung page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.