I've been so caught up in the thought of me and you Even though I love someone else, I know my heart belongs to you Tell me how did we ever let the situation get this far Maybe we should just try to hide the things we feel inside Things, I know we can't deny

Should've never told you that I cared about you Didn't think that it would be so bad Should've never kissed you, should've never held your hand
Got to find a way to let these feelings go

What did I do the day I let you slip into my soul?
It was then when I realized that I would always want you in my life
No one else can know of the things that we've been saying
On the telephone, it would be so bad if they ever knew That me and you were secretly into each other

Should've never told you that I cared about you
Didn't think that it would be so bad
Should've never kissed you, should've never held your
hand
Got to find a way to let these feelings go

I'm so scared, trembling inside 'cause I'm feeling Like somebody else already knows Oh my God, I love you both so much But to have to choose between the two Is hurting me so deep inside

Should've never told you that I cared about you
Didn't think that it would be so bad
Should've never kissed you, should've never held your
I don't ever wanna feel this way again

Should've never told you that I cared about you Should've never kissed you, should've never held your

Should've never told you that I cared about you

Should've never kissed you, should've never held your
hand
Should've never told you that I cared about you Should've never kissed you, should've never held your

Should've never told you that I cared about you Should've never kissed you, should've never held your
hand
Should've never told you that I cared about you

Should've never kissed you, should've never held your
hand
Should've never told you that I cared about you Should've never kissed you, should've never held your
hand
