Hold me now
Stop the morning light from breaking
Something's coming over me
Don't know what it is I'm saving

The clock ticks by
And it just might change everything
If I don't give you all that's waiting
Who knows what tomorrow will bring

If I try not to need you
I'll be hiding from myself but, oh

If tomorrow never comes
I would do it all again
If the light never breaks through
I would stay until the end

If I've saved it all for you
I would have my faith again
Then, then I would know it's you

Won't shed a tear
For more than just a moment
Try not to let myself go crazy
Tomorrow may not come

So I won't hold you here
Unless you wanna fight about it
I would gladly let you win
'Cause I don't need to write this ending

If I just trust the stillness
Somehow it won't hurt so bad, oh

If tomorrow never comes
I would do it all again
If the light never breaks through
I would stay until the end

If I've saved it all for you
I would have my faith again

Then, then I would know

If tomorrow never comes
I would do it all again
If the light never breaks through
I would stay until the end

If I've saved it all for you
I would have my faith again
Then, then I would know
Then, then, then I would know it's you
