In the last few hundred years some people lost their place on earth they never had a chance to stay just like they were I can't understand why should this happen here we should accept and learn how to live together.
These are just some strangers thoughts
These are just some strangers thoughts
The reason for the pain is always based on history the madness in some minds has started to do this all I can't understand why should this happen here
we should accept and learn
how to live together.
These are just some strangers thoughts...
(Music: H. Maile, Words: M. Meyn)
