You say there is a thunder in her eyes
So loud it carries through the night
When she's not even there right by your side
It's haunting

You say she's got you on the run
Almost surely she's the one
It can take a heart some time to make up a mind

But it makes you feel alright
Just to think of doing her right
That the road to choose is straight ahead in the end

You surrender
Just try your best to remember
That with powder it's never the same
You don't wanna be free again

Surrender, it's your only chance
Surrender, don't wait too long to realise
That her eyes will say forever

There may be times when you are full of doubt
So make sure of where you stand

My advice to you is let your heart be your guide

Now it makes you feel alright
Just to think of doing her right
That the road to choose is straight ahead in the end

You surrender
Just try your best to remember
That with powder it's never the same
You don't wanna be free again

Surrender, it's your only chance
Surrender, don't wait too long to realise
That her eyes will say forever

Surrender
Just try your best to remember

That with powder it's never the same
You don't wanna be free again

Surrender, it's your only chance
Surrender, don't wait too long to realise
That her eyes will say forever
Surrender
