Everything changes
But my love for you remains
Everytime I see you
I get shivers down my spine
I start scheming to make you mine
And though everything changes with time
My love for you remains
So let me into your heart
And let it be like
The day that we met and fell in love
Because nothing has changed
I still feel the same
And I know that you do too
Everything changes
But my love for you remains
Everytime I see you
I get shivers down my spine
I start scheming to make you mine
And though everything changes with time
My love for you remains
So let me into your heart

And let it be like
The day that we met and fell in love
Cause I still love you so
And I will not take no
For an answer
Everything changes
But my love for you remains
Everytime I see you
I get shivers down my spine
I start scheming to make you mine
And though everything changes with time
My love for you remains
So let me into your heart
And let it be like
The day that we met and fell in love
Cause I cannot go on
And I will not go on
Without you in my life
Everything changes
But my love for you remains
Everytime I see you
I get shivers down my spine
I start scheming to make you mine
And though everything changes with time
My love for you remains
