There will be no kisses tonight
There will be no holding hands tonight
Cause what is now wasn't there before
And should not be

I know I've broken some hearts, I understand
Some firecrackers blow up in your hand
Oh I fked up, I've always tried to be true

But I would never kiss anyone
Who doesn't burn me like the sun
And I remember every kiss
Like my first kiss
Like my first kiss

When I think back on that night
It was lovely
Vital aching
In your dad's 240
But I would like to keep the memory
Of that kiss as it is

Things get more complicated when you're older
Before you know it you are somebody's soldier
You get a gun and you name it
After a girlfriend

But I swear I'll never kiss anyone
Who doesn't burn me like the sun
And I will cherish every kiss
Like my first kiss
Like my first kiss
Like my first kiss
