I don't want a girl who hangs on every word I say
Who shows me off to her parents over roast beef on Sunday
I don't want a girl who thinks she has to fake
I don't want a girl who laughs at every little joke I make
I just want someone
To share my life with
I just want someone
To share my life with
I don't want a girl who thinks there's only me to please
I don't want a girl who thinks it's fun to tease
I don't want a girl who thinks she has to cater for my every needs
I don't want a girl to go down on her knees
I just want someone
To share my life with
I just want someone
To share my life with
And that someone could be you
That someone could be you
You could be that someone
You could be that someone
You could be that someone
You could be that someone
You could be that someone
You could be that someone
