Why did i come to your door,
I never breathe the words before
And i can change your mind
I think im losing mine this time
And i can see for miles
But that doesnt't change things

My senses fall inside i never meant to make you cry
And i know it's difficult
And it's ok to hate me
And ive been pushin out
And there's no walls to keep me in
There's no boundires in my way
You can't keep me here

Ive been waiting so long for a chance
Ive been getting tired of believeing
Ive been bending souls with rocks in hands
Ive been getting tired of believing you

So now this is the end
And now i see the way it's been
I never thought i could change

I never knew that it mattered

And ive been pushin out
And there's no walls to keep me in
There's no boundires in my way
You can't keep me here

I never knew how much it mattered
Never knew that it could make a real difference
I guess it's all in the writing
I can't explain

Ive been waiting so long for a chance
Ive been getting tired of believeing
Ive been bending souls with rocks in hands
Ive been getting tired of believing you

Ive been waiting so long for a chance

Ive been getting tired of believeing
Ive been bending souls with rocks in hands
Ive been getting tired of believing you

Tired of believing you
