A broken image is sometimes what I see
But the hand that made me
Is the hand that won't leave me

You've begun a good work that only has begun
And you always lead me
Will lead me to your son?

Oh, what I want to know everything you are
What I want to see your will for me
And I know you'll show me, yeah

And I know you're calling
And I see your arms stretched wide
And I feel you drawing, drawing me back again

Another day I can spend with you
You turn the pages
Telling me what to do

And when I feel like I want to fall again
You always lead me
Will you lead me to your hand?

Oh, what I want to know everything you are
What I want to see your will for me
And I know you'll show me, I know you'll show me now

And I know you're calling
And I see your arms stretched wide
And I feel you drawing, drawing me back again

And I know I want everything that you want for me
Help me to understand your ways
And I know I want everything that you want for me
today

And I know you're calling
And I see your arms stretched wide
And I feel you drawing, drawing me back again, oh
yeah

And I know you're calling
And I see your arms stretched wide
And I feel you drawing, drawing me back again, oh
yeah

And I know you're calling, I know you're calling now
And I see your arms stretched wide
And I feel you drawing, drawing me back again
Drawing me back again
