Clyde:

what was always good enough for you par hat to say aint good enough for me ploughing fields and planting seeds till your mind and body bleeds no way up before dawn and you stop when you drop then you ask your god to forgive Praying for rain without rain there is no crops this aint no way to live
what was always good enough for you par will not satisfy your wayward son jessie james had much more fun building dreams with just a gun that's how the west was once*???*

bonnie:

what was always good enough for you ma gotta say aint good enough for me making punch and baking pie painting barns and swatting flies oh no writing a diary is tough around here boring as hell sorry ma I wanna wear diamonds one stud for each ear bright as the morning star

will not satisfy your littel girl more to life than potting plants I don't wanna miss my chance im looking for romance clyde: this country has had its day depression and breadlines are all that tomorrow will bring bonnie: tell em cyld clyde: the bible has got in wrong just look at the poor babe the meak don't inherit a thing both:
there aint nothing good enough for us yeah we deserve what we are going to get this world should be notified it's gonna be a bumpy ride thanks to bonnie and clyde
