everything you love
everything you hate all will burn in my wake what the fuck do you want to say to me now that your time is running out everything you hope everything you crave all you have i will take cant you see the final sign in the air one last kiss and then we dissappear motherfuckers try to make me something im not im just in love with death cause death is all ive got everything you have everything you hold dont be scared to let it go dont you know that i could make you pray for death you want this to end i wouldnt hold your breath everything you feel is not always real the more you have the more i steal
time is running out
im just in love with death cause death is all ive got
