[Jesse]

Think of all your lovers and your friends
And how your life would be to lose all of them And how it would feel if I was the only one left the only one left Think of every moment we had the consequence the after math
The sorry state that I have to deal with till I could see you again
Cus I'm lost inside of this one thing that I can't control can't control can't control
It's your love it's your grace it's the smile on your face
it's the basic fact that I will never ever know if it's really the distance that's keeping you from Coming back home from coming back home
I'm not sure if it's time over mind(?) or the patience that I've had
The swearing out the beating in my chest Can't you see I wish that you would do the same for me, for me, for me
Cus I'm lost inside of this one thing that I can't control
can't control can't control
It's your love it's your grace it's the smile on your face
it's the basic fact that I will never ever know if it's really the distance is keeping you
From coming back home
But I'd go the distance to get to you the mountains would get taller
The rivers would overflow the streets would fill with traffic in summer there'd be snow And even if it meant that I would have to lose every solitary thing
That I owned as long as you wouldn't be alone

[Melissa]

Cus I'm lost inside of this one thing that I can't control can't control I can't control
It's your love it's your grace it's the smile on your face it's the basic fact That I will never ever know

[Jesse&Melissa;]
Cus I'm lost inside of this one thing that I can't control
can't control can't control
It's your love it's your grace it's the smile on your face
it's the basic fact that I will never ever know if it's really the distance if it's really the distance Is keeping you from coming back home
