"Everybody Knows"

Everybody knows, tells you what to do
Everywhere you go it's not the place for you
It's not the place for you

Everybody thinks they can help you through
Every word you say they say it isn't true
They say it isn't true

But oh how can they say
When they only blame you when you fall?
And oh what can they do for you
When they don't know you at all?

Everybody wants to be close to you
Every time you go they don't know what to do
They don't know what to do

But oh what can they say
When they only blame you when you fall?
And oh what can they do for you
When they don't know you at all?

Oh, what can they say
When they only blame you when you fall?
And oh what can they do for you
When they don't know you at all?
