No matter how long it takes
One day the dam will break
One day the tears will fall
Just like that waterfall
Down, down, falling down
Till the walls are crumbling
How can you be so strong
Tell me I don't belong
But just like the plans you make
One day the dam will break
Down, down, falling down
Tumbling in the water
There's no place for you to hide
And no need to be so scared
When you know that I care
Think that you'll keep your mind
By leaving me behind
But it's not your mind at stake
And one day the dam will break
One day the dam will break
